Heavy Earthquake Rocks Main Isle In Philippines

Capital City Gets Badly Shaken And Damage Is Great

MANILA, Dec. 29.—(AP)—A heavy earthquake shook Luzon, main island of the Philippines, for two and one-half minutes today.

Isabela province, on the northeast coast was reported hardest hit, with sea waves and landslides.

The Manila Bulletin correspondent said the shock was rated at intensity seven there. There is the third heaviest on the earthquake scale.

An unidentified woman was drowned by the seismic sea waves at the town of Mercedes. A boat with eight passengers capsized near the Malayon ferry, but all were reportedly saved.

In the town of Naguilan, about 250 miles northeast of Manila, a jeep was reported to have been swallowed up by a fissure in the earth. Several nearby towns were isolated by landslides.

The National Red Cross reported several fissures spewed black water in the town of Itagan, Isabela province capital 275 miles northeast of Manila. The Catholic church there was badly damaged.

In Cabanatuan, 70 miles north of Manila, several women and children were reported injured in a stampede in a movie theater.

Throughout the 600-mile length of Luzon, almost every able-bodied person fled into the open for safety.

Damage to many buildings was reported. Large cracks appeared in some of Manila's tallest structures.

Three fires started by short circuits.

Rabies Is Spread Among County's Cattle By Foxes

By CLYDE E. JOHNSON
Daily Sun Staff Writer

The cunning little fox, loved by the sportsman and hated by many farmers and cattlemen, has become a nuisance in Navarro county.

Rabies, a disease associated mostly with dogs, has spread rapidly in this area during the past two years; and currently it is in a serious stage, Dr. M. Smotherman, California veterinarian, revealed Thursday.

Some cattlemen, it is reported, are carrying firearms about their ranches for protection against rabid animals.

And the fox is mostly to blame.

MYSTERIOUS RUSSIAN SHIPS IN CARIBBEAN BEFORE MANEUVERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Three mysterious Russian ships have suddenly been reported in the Caribbean area where the largest U. S. fleet maneuvers in history soon will be held.

The vessels are described by authorities as "fishing ships" but without fishing gear and equipped with extremely powerful radios.

U. S. civil and military officials are keeping a careful, but diplomatically correct, eye on the progress of the ships in Western Hemisphere waters.

The three vessels are the Trepang, Peramut and Chikla, reportedly enroute from the Baltic to Vladivostok by way of St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands, the Panama Canal and Honolulu.

Authorities disclosed that these three bring to 15 the number of similar type Soviet ships that have crossed the Caribbean on their way to Russia's important Siberian sea port in the last two and a half years.

With the Chikla in their wake, the Trepang and Peramut put in at St. Thomas for supplies just before Christmas. It is believed they plan to get to the Canal Zone the last of this week or the first of next.

One informed source expressed doubt that the Russian ships' primary interest is in military information. He suggested that Russia may be planning to take over fishing grounds that the Japanese used before the war.

But in that connection, naval men recalled that the Japanese ships—like the Russian Diesel-equipped schooners—often turned up in maneuvers areas at about the time major exercises were getting started.

Last year three Russian vessels—the Omar, Belik, and Globus, arrived at St. Thomas just a few weeks before spring maneuvers were held.

In this case, military planners are completing arrangements for an Army-Navy-Marine-Air Force exercise involving some 80,000 men, which is due to be held from January through mid-March.

While Soviet ships have a right to put in at St. Thomas for supplies, water and repairs—provided they abide by U. S. port regulations—some navy people point out that the Caribbean route is the long way around for a vessel on the Europe-Vladivostok run.

Business Outlook In Southwest Is Good—Sawyer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Business conditions in the Southwest have been termed "extremely good and are expected to remain so in 1950."

Secretary of Commerce Sawyer made the report yesterday to the White House based on his personal inspection of the economic situation over the country.

The secretary reported: "The Southwest has been experiencing a period of economic growth reminiscent of the opening of the western frontier."

"The heart of this development is in Texas," he added.

"Striking testimony was provided in all of my meetings there of what it has meant in terms of business conditions through the present year."

"The 1949 declines experienced in areas and business lines elsewhere appear to have been temporary, and recovery seems to have been achieved more rapidly."

"Indeed, numerous individual businessmen made reports to me that in many instances bank loans and debts, restaurants, gasoline, automobile and general retail sales would run ahead of 1948 levels both in dollars and otherwise."

"The only major aspects of Sawyer's report on the Southwest concerned the petroleum and livestock industries."

"Exports of oil from the Far East have forced cutbacks in domestic production, hitting independent operators in particular, he said, and lower livestock prices adversely affected ranchers."

"The reported efforts were felt more severely in Oklahoma than in Texas."

"Comments made to me on business conditions in Oklahoma indicate that the same general pattern described above has also been felt there, business conditions have conformed more closely to national trends," his report to John D. Steelman, assistant to the President said.

"That situation was in part related to a lower volume of livestock sales, lower livestock prices and, thus, lower levels of farm income and stockyard and packing house employment than prevailed in 1948."

Mexico To Spend Heavily For Oil

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Pemex, the government oil administration, fixed its 1950 budget today at a record high of 1,350,000,000 pesos ($100,000,000).

It covers an augmented plan for construction of refineries and pipe lines and oil exploration. Also included in the first of eight annual payments for four tank ships, priced at $550,000 each. Two of the ships are now in Jacksonville, Fla., and the others in Seattle.

How They Look—

GOP Sets Strategy; Demos Unworried

Spending Appears Due To Become Republican Target

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Republican leaders seemed agreed today on making the Truman Administration's spending policies one of the chief issues of the 1950 campaign.

That was the one suggestion that cropped up most often in an analysis of current and recent statements by GOP bigwigs on the future course of their party. As of now, it needs much more money and many more offices.

Out of a long drought at the presidential polling places has come about every possible suggestion for organizing and rebuilding the party.

At one wing, Senator John W. Bricker of Ohio has proposed an outright merger with Southern Democrats. On the other wing, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge of Massachusetts has called for a Republican party that will hold out its hand to labor.

Guy C. Carlisle, the Republican national chairman, has joined the latest GOP outcry against "neo-toolism" in his party.

However, Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, whose reelection last November was one of few bright spots in a dull Republican sky, says it all depends on what the GOP is "me-tooing."

He, for one, says he is willing to "me-too" the ten commandments, the preamble to the constitution and a strong national defense.

Generally speaking, the Republicans seem to think that Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York

Survey Indicates Most Business To Close Here On Monday, Jan. 2

Monday's activities in Corsicana will not be at a standstill but surveys indicate a majority of the business houses, offices and manufacturing plants plan to close on Jan. 2.

The Corsicana Chamber of Commerce reports most of the wholesale and retail business houses and offices have expressed a desire to close, and the Retail Merchants Association office will be closed.

The RMA office said many of its members plan to close, also. All city hall offices will be open Monday. All county offices, except the law enforcement division and the district judge's office, will be closed. District Judge A. E. Mays will be in his office Monday to impersonal grand jurors for the January term of court. It is expected the jurors will not hear any cases Monday, the county commissioners, scheduled to meet Monday, have agreed to be in session Tuesday.

The banks and the postoffice will be closed, but the postoffice crew will handle incoming and outgoing mail. There will be no city or rural deliveries.

The city library will be open from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. The Corsicana-Navarro Health Unit and the American Red Cross office will be closed.

Manufacturing plants which said they'd observe New Year's day on Monday by closing, include the Corsicana Cotton Mills, Bethlehem Supply Co., and Texas Miller Products, Inc.

Several Corsicans plan to attend the Cotton Bowl game in Dallas on Monday, and at least two from this city, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Prince, plan to see the Rose Bowl game at Pasadena, Calif.

The Corsicana Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Light will publish papers as usual on Monday and Tuesday.

New York Plans Big Night For New Year's Eve

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—It can cost a lot or a little to welcome 1950 in the big city.

It all depends on how you do it, and where.

New Year's Eve is the big night for New York's assorted night spots, and most of them have big party plans.

Even sedate Carnegie Hall scheduled a special program and promised to leave its bar open later than usual.

Prices for the holiday night generally are normal, ranging from $7.50 for dinner and a funny hat up to just about any amount the barrow will stand.

The tonier night spots and supper clubs ask around $25 per person for food, entertainment and treats. The fixed figure does not include drinks.

Folks have completed plans to handle the thousands who will jam Times Square.

Government Hit For Neglecting Child Health

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Top American scientists today heard the federal government accused of neglecting child health research while spending millions on bombs.

Dr. Leona Baumgartner, of the Children's Bureau, Washington, D. C., made the statement before the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Only a few thousand dollars a year of federal money goes for child health research, she said, but more than half a billion is spent on other research, including immense sums on bombs and atomic energy.

By contrast, she said, children are by far the most important product of the United States.

"What we are after," she said, "both educators and doctors, is to help in raising a new generation of human beings who are buoyantly healthy in body and spirit; whose creativity and social responsibility are given the greatest opportunity for expression; who have an unchallengeable conviction of the value of their lives and the worth of other people."

"This is the kind of positive health we are after. This is the quality of people we are convinced can truly build a Democratic society."

Dr. Baumgartner said there are 20,000,000 American children with poor teeth, 4,000,000 with poor eyesight, 1,000,000 with poor hearing, 200,000 with epilepsy, and 170,000 with cerebral palsy.

And, she said, despite the $7,500,000 Congress annually gives states to help sick children, the states are forced to turn down thousands of children a year for lack of funds.

She said this year there are 30,000 crippled children unable to get help.

She wants the research to go much farther than child diseases—to cover, for example:

The child who has actual pains due to taking a school test; the child who can't do good work because of home worries; the many millions of children who lay the foundation for mental troubles; the great puzzle of why some children have most of the accidents.

Connally Pleads For Non-Partisan Foreign Policy

Texas Democrat Is Lined Up With Sen. Vandenberg

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Sen. Connally (D-Texas) called today for cuts in foreign spending next year and continuation of a "non-partisan" foreign policy.

The veteran chairman of the senate foreign relations committee told a news conference that U. S. recovery of an military assistance programs "have already installed new confidence in a jittery world."

"The United States can have but one foreign policy," he insisted. Moving into a developing senate fight over the bi-partisan foreign policy, Connally, thus generally aligned himself with Sen. Vandenberg of Michigan, Republican spokesman on many foreign policy issues and co-author of the bi-partisan effort.

Before he met with news men, Connally's position had been expected to furnish some clue to the administration's attitude on soothing ruffled Republican tempers.

Connally told news men there would be no recognition of a Communist government in China without prior consultation by Secretary of State Acheson with the senate foreign relations committee.

He gave the assurance of the secretary of state that full consultation with the foreign relations committee will take place before any steps are taken in the direction of recognizing the Communist regime," he said.

"The most important thing we can do now is to use our influence and our resources to prevent the further expansion of Communism in Asia."

Connally outlined his comments on foreign affairs for reporters in prepared statement, and then discussed them in detail.

He said "an estimated $1,000,000,000 should be cut from Marshall spending next year and a 'stop' on the rest."

President Speaks Before Congress Next Wednesday

WASHINGTON, Dec. 29.—(AP)—President Truman will deliver his State of the Union message before a joint session of the senate and house next Wednesday.

The White House announced today that this time was decided on in talks the president had with the "Big Four" congressional leaders by telephone.

Talked with Vice President Barkley, Speaker Rayburn, Senate Democratic Leader Wherry, Illinois; Speaker Rayburn in Texas and House Democratic Leader McCormack in Boston.

President's Press Secretary Charles G. Ross said the exact time of the president's talk has not been fixed, but that it will be around 11:30 a. m. (CST).

Ross could not say the exact length of the president's message but said it would require about 35 to 40 minutes.

The president usually speaks at a pace of about 120 words a minute.

Ross said Mr. Truman hopes to send his economic message to congress on Friday, Jan. 6, and his budget message on Monday, Jan. 9, but that the schedule is still tentative.

The president called off his usual Thursday news conference in order to work on his messages. He plans to go over them tomorrow in a meeting with his cabinet.

City Officials Will Be Honored By Luncheon Club

The appreciation program honoring Mayor Hubert T. Brantson and the city commission will be held Tuesday, January 3, at the regular noon luncheon meeting of the Lions Club. It was decided at the meeting of the program committee Thursday. Sydney Marks, chairman, presided at the meeting Thursday.

The Tuesday program will take the place of the originally planned evening banquet, but otherwise the program will be unchanged.

The program will be introduced by L. B. Dawson, president of the club.

Chairman Marks will speak on the past history of Corsicana. President Dawson will outline the present outlook for the municipality, while Lowry Martin will discuss the future of this area.

President Dawson invites every citizen who desires to attend to make reservations with John Henry Bryant, secretary, not later than Monday at 10 a. m. Lions are also requested to make reservations for any guests they plan to bring.

The luncheon will be held at the Navarro Hotel.

Another meeting of the committee in charge of arrangements will be held prior to the Tuesday appreciation program, it was announced.

MESSAGE OF MORAL RENEWAL FOR TASKS OF THE NEW YEAR

The Bible's Perennial Message Speaks
Afresh To Each Generation—Lessons For Three Months Significantly Deal
With New Age—We Need Spiritual
Control Of Scientific Knowledge

By WILLIAM E. ELLIS
and EARL L. DOUGLASS

On the first day of the new year, Sunday school teachers, all over the United States, will begin the study of one of the most readable and remarkable books ever written—the Book of Acts.

Furthermore, this book marks the beginning of a new era in human affairs, for with the ascension of Christ into Heaven began a spiritual ministry the potency and significance of which had not even been glimpsed in the noblest utterances of Old Testament seers and prophets. New Year's day does not fall on Sunday very often, but it is most fitting that this year when it does we should be studying a lesson, and beginning the study of a period in Biblical history which very decidedly marked a new era in human thought and action.

A New Beginning.

It is Dr. Luke, the meticulous historian, who tells the story that is the lesson which millions will study on the first day of the new year. He has written one book, the Gospel which bears his name, to record the earthly life of Jesus. Significantly, he says in the opening words of this second book, the Acts, that his Gospel was the record of "all that Jesus began both to do and to teach." Thus the ascended Lord is linked with the ministering Jesus. The earthly life was only a beginning. Now Luke sweeps into the continuing drama of the crucifixion, and resurrection had not been the last acts of the Saviour's life.

At once the author plunges into the most vital truth of our religion. Jesus Christ still lives and labors. It is not a dead body on a cross that we worship, but a present, active, all-powerful, ministering Lord, concerned with everything which enters into the advancement of His kingdom. We would not part with one iota of the many facts about the ministering Master; yet for today our hope is in the living Lord, who cares for the world's present agony, and who would impart peace and power to every present disciple.

He ascended out of their sight, Christ gave His friends their final instructions and assurance.

4 YEAR OLD BOY WAS WASTING AWAY

My son Bobby Jean, 4, had been suffering from vomiting spells. Each attack sent him to bed with fever for 2 or 3 days. We tried all kinds of medicine but he continued to lose weight and grow pale and weak. We started giving him HADACOL and since the first dose he has never had a vomiting spell or fever. He gained pounds in 2 weeks and is full of pep and energy. It is really remarkable how HADACOL has helped my child.

IS HADACOL A MIRACLE FORMULA?

No, there is nothing miraculous or mysterious about HADACOL. The potent health-giving benefits of HADACOL are based on a proven scientific fact: Lack of sufficient vitamins and minerals in most diets leaves the door WIDE OPEN to diseases and weaknesses of all kinds. HADACOL, the scientifically balanced supplement, helps to CLOSE that door and KEEP it closed.

BOBBY JEAN JUST ONE OF THOUSANDS!

Had is not been for HADACOL, the story of Mrs. Prejean's little boy, as told in her letter above, might have had a tragic ending. His system was run down to the danger point. Medicines and treatments didn't help. What he really needed was a supply of "building materials" for his body. Little Bobby Jean got from HADACOL. Today, like thousands of others, he is healthy again!

WHO SHOULD TAKE HADACOL?

HADACOL is not a medicine. It is a concentrated FOOD formula containing all the important vitamins in the B Complex group as well as these vital minerals: iron, calcium, phosphorus and manganese. If you are not getting your full daily quota of these essential dietary components, you may be heading straight into danger—weakness, loss of appetite, and then disease!

Let HADACOL help you stay on the High Road of Health!

Only $1.25 for the regular size—$2.50 for the large family and hospital economy size. At your drug store or by mail order.

Help yourself to HEALTH with HADACOL.

Now the continuance of His Work depended upon this small company of disciples. They were commissioned to be His witnesses, not only in Jerusalem and Judea and Samaria, but into the uttermost parts of the earth. Such was the divine imperialism of the Christian program.

Spirit Alone Gives Victory.

To be fit for this heroic and unprecedented task, the friends of Jesus would need more than mortal power. So the Master made them tarry in Jerusalem until this equipment should be given them. The ten days of waiting before Pentecost befell must have been a testing time for the disciples; human nature is irked by the delays entailed in preparation. In this last talk, some of the impatient ones inquired concerning the time of the restoration of the kingdom. Their number is legion today, and the admonition of the ascending Lord is still to be borne in mind: "It is not for you to know times or seasons which the Father hath set within His own authority."

So that engrossing subject was dismissed, as Jesus proceeded to talk of the more important theme of the Power that should be given to the disciples for the fulfillment of their all-important task. For spiritual conquest they were to be spiritually equipped. Today this sublime historical fact confronts us: There is a supernatural Spirit, who stands instead of the Saviour Himself, to enable every witness, every parent, every teacher, to carry on the work of the ministering Master when He was on earth.

As Dr. Moffat says, religion is not a form but a force. It is something vital, real, all alive. The Christian conquest over self, over circumstances, over evil, is based not upon the native skill or equipment or learning of the disciples, but upon the Power bequeathed by the ascending Saviour. "Not by might nor by power, but by my Spirit, saith the Lord." That is the battle cry for the supreme struggle which the church is today entering.

Spiritual Control Necessary.

For entering we are upon times fraught with unprecedented possibilities for both good and evil. Never has the human mind discovered so many helpful truths about the physical world in which we live. Never have so many human beings longed for a peaceful world and given earnest assent to movements for making life here upon earth more endurable and more abundant. Yet into these beneficent findings have infiltrated the purposes of evil men who would use these new-found powers to dominate their fellows and enrich themselves.

Two thousand years ago Jesus made it plain that the issue of such events depends on the seriousness and consecration of Christian disciples. If we are to have a new age we must have a new spirit, and it is with that new spirit that the opening Sunday school lesson of the year deals.

DIVIDED POWER brings better farming

Here's a New Year's idea for better farming in 1950. Divide your power. Let the Allis-Chalmers WD or Model C do the heavy work while lighter jobs are turned over to the Model G or belt work an A-C stationary power unit. They help take the pressure off both you and your present tractor when time counts most in busy seasons.

The Model G can cultivate, plant, mow, plow and do chore work. A-C power units are available at surprisingly low cost in 24 to 110 hp. sizes. These are real tractor engines, proved by years of tough tractor service.

The negress' condition was described as good.

Then at serving time cut the pie in thin wedges—the wedges will lift out perfectly without any stickiness or separation. Guests spread a bite of their portion on a cracker—and happily let the three flavors of the pie blend while they enjoy it!

The pie will keep perfectly for 24 hours or more in the refrigerator covered with waxed paper or aluminum—in fact it should be made at least several hours in advance of serving so it will chill and "set" for easy cutting. Here's the recipe:

Midnight Canape Pie

CHEESE LAYER: Cream together 6 ounces of cream cheese and 1 1/4 ounces of blue cheese. Season with Worcestershire sauce and finely chopped parsley. Add enough milk or cream to make it spreading consistency. Spread in an even layer in the bottom of an eight-inch pie plate.

HAM LAYER: Mix together 6 ounces of deviled ham spread and 2 tablespoons of chopped pickles. Spread on cheese layer.

EGG LAYER: Chop 4 hard-cooked eggs. Season to taste with salt, pepper, mayonnaise and chopped pimiento. Spread on top of ham layer. Cover with waxed paper or aluminum foil. Store in refrigerator several hours or over night if desired.

TO DECORATE: Cut slim straight pretzel sticks into small pieces to mark minutes on clock and to form hands of clock pointing to midnight. Cut numbers 1 and 2 out of "curly" pretzels, and put on the clock.

he could make them work better.

Dewey himself has conceded he may have taken the wrong tack with a sweetness-and-light campaign. But aides said he stands pat on the advice he gave the Republican party last winter. Looking back on his defeat, he told the Republicans:

"Take the middle road. Stop belittling about the past. Quit trying to outpromise the Democrats. Forget about turning the clock back and work for social progress under a flourishing competitive system of private enterprise, where every human right is expanded."

Dewey recently wrote a Portland, Ore., friend that under no circumstances would he become the party's presidential nominee again in 1952. He followed that up yesterday by telling a news conference at Albany he would not seek the nomination in 1956 or 1960, either.

Body Of Houston Pilot Is Found Mile From Plane

CRAB ORCHARD, Tenn., Dec. 29.—(AP)—The body of a pilot who crawled more than a mile after suffering a broken leg in a plane crash seven days ago was found dead today on rugged Devil Step mountain.

Deputy Sheriff Beecher Poteet said John S. Anderson, 36, of Houston, Texas, had crawled to within a mile of a country road. He had been dead for several days when the body was found.

Poteet said death apparently was caused by shock and exposure. Considerable rain and below-freezing temperatures have been recorded on the mountain since the plane crashed on the night of Dec. 22.

Anderson had been missing since he took off from Columbus, Miss., on Dec. 22 for a holiday visit to his former home at Bristol, Tenn., Va., the wreckage of his private 4-passenger plane was found yesterday.

Poteet said a ground party which toiled up the heavily wooded mountain to the crash scene yesterday passed within 20 feet of the spot where the body was found.

The pilot apparently had attempted to place splints on his broken leg. The body was found beside a large rock. His billfold was found buried nearby.

Devil Step mountain, at 2,000 feet is one of the higher elevations of the Cumberland plateau. It is located approximately 11 miles from Crossville and 80 miles north of Chattanooga.

James Anderson of Bristol sighted the wreckage of his brother's plane yesterday in a flight with a C-47 pilot.

Anderson had flown the same route from Houston two or three times previously. He was using a plane owned by his employers, the Odum Tool Co. of Houston.

PENSIONS

pains gave prosperous 1948 the political look of the depression days, when pension plans called "ham and eggs" and "30 every Thursday" were bywords. Some states came close to voting themselves into near-insolvency to take care of their oldsters.

Rosier dreams life ahead. Secretary of Labor Tobin is plugging for a $100 a month federal pension for "every retired person." President Truman has not called him off the campaign.

The "Mr. Republic" of Capitol Hill, Senator Taft of Ohio, says this would cost $12 million a year. (Social security officials agree it would cost at least that). Taft says it would have to be paid from taxes, because it would be impossible to amass an insurance fund big enough to swing it. (Most officials, and all insurance men, agree with that, too).

So Senator Taft proposes that the senate finance committee start an immediate study of the "feasibility" of $100 pensions for all at age 65. That is $200 a couple.

This may prolong the senate hearings on the pending social security bill. Meantime by comparison, it would raise the minimum pension from $10 to $25 a month and boost the maximum for an aged couple from $85 to $125.

But passage seems certain. The house approved it last session by a vote of 338 to 14. This is an election year, and both party platforms call for improvement of social security. The pensions now average only $26 a month.

Still, in the entire government, nobody knows exactly what gap the government benefits are trying to fill, or what part of the gap is being filled, by the fast-rolling drive of the unions.

As many as 8 million workers, the social security administration believes, may now be covered by private plans. The insurance trade thinks the total is higher.

Red flotillas in China repulsed
HONG KONG, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Nationalist military sources said today shore based artillery on Haiguan island, off the South China coast, had smashed several flotillas of Communist manned boats probing its defenses.

Small scale Communist landing efforts along the Haiguan coast evidently are a prelude to a major Red assault now being readied on the Liuchow peninsula which juts toward the island from the mainland.

Mexican freighter has fire in hold
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—(AP)—A Mexican freighter was scheduled to dock here on time today despite a fire which broke out in the hold and was later reported under control.

Capt. Pedro Teran of the 2-800-ton Mexican freighter Uxmal reported the fire by radio to Fernando Patron, manager of H. T. Cotton and Co., agent for the vessel. Two coast guard cutters escorted the Uxmal up the Mississippi.

Hungary Seizes Many Businesses From Foreigners

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Dec. 29.—(AP)—Hungary's government today seized a large number of foreign-owned companies, charging they were being used "to build up espionage and sabotage rings."

Among those ordered nationalized was the Standard Electric Works, a subsidiary of the American-owned International Telephone and Telegraph Company. Two foreign officials—an American and a Hungarian manager of the company—are in a Hungarian jail charged with espionage and sabotage.

The government also broadened its nationalization program by taking over all Hungarian-owned enterprises employing more than 10 persons and all printing plants employing more than five. This was considered a long step toward further socialization of the country's economy.

Compensation was promised for the foreign and domestic-owned nationalized plants. Recent government announcements have declared that the officials of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company in Hungary have confessed to police they were guilty of spying and plotting sabotage. They are Robert Vogler, American, and Edgar Sanders, British, both of whom were arrested with the Hungarian manager of the company, Imre Geiger, in November.

Other firms nationalized included the Hungarian branches of Shell Oil Company, Vacuum Oil Company, Standard Oil Company, the Dutch-owned Phillips Radio Company, the Swiss-owned Brown-Boveri Electrical Works, various textile factories, the Hungarian subsidiary of the Standard Oil Company (Moor) and the Standard Electric Works.

ed in the Corbet community on several occasions. In that area, two cows have been killed.

J. D. Skinner of Corsicana, who has a herd of cattle one mile east of Corbet, said a four-year-old Red Pole cow was killed Wednesday by a rabid fox. The fox was seen running at a calf, gave chase to T. R. Lake, an employee of Skinner, and had attempted to reach others in the vicinity.

Skinner said Wilburn Thompson killed a cow suffering with rabies near Corbet Tuesday.

A search of Skinner's pasture was made after the cow was killed and a dead fox was discovered near a tank. Skinner is of the opinion that the fox was rabid and died when he reached the water hole.

E. Williams, residing one mile north of Corbet, reported several days ago that a fox attacked a dog at his premises. He killed the animal with a gun, and sent the head to Austin for examination. It was reported positive.

Among the symptoms of rabies in cows are slobbering, excessive howling, and the attacking of nearby objects. Dr. Smotherman said cows stop giving milk too, when suffering from rabies.

A rabid fox case in East Corsicana was recalled by the veterinarian.

A man was milking his cow when a fox walked up and snapped the animal. The farmer got a rope and lariat the fox. About that time a neighbor approached, seeing the incident he remarked: "That fox isn't mad; he's somebody's pet."

And the neighbor went over to pet the animal. The man was bitten. In order to get the best of the fox, the farmer rushed over and began choking the fox. The farmer was bitten, too. A little boy came to the scene then and likewise was bitten.

Finally the two men subdued the animal, killed it and sent the head to Austin. A laboratory report showed no evidence of rabies.

Dr. Smotherman emphasized that had the fox been observed short time to spread to the brain. The fox certainly had the disease, he said, but it was too early to diagnose in the laboratory.

The two men and the boy were treated for rabies.

Dr. Smotherman stressed observation of animals that bite and act strangely, before killing them. It is the only after such observation, he indicated, that a complete and accurate laboratory diagnosis can be made.

Spread of rabies also is reported in Henderson county. Foxes in that area have been discovered with the disease, according to the Athens Daily Review.

Tom Eady Main Speaker Thursday At Civitan Club

Tom Eady was the speaker at the last meeting of the Corsicana Civitan Club for 1949 Thursday, and his subject was the New Year.

"Every man has two days from which he measures time," Eady said—"his own birthday and New Year's day. It is a date you can't regard with indifference."

"People ask, 'what about 1950?' It's all right to think about it, but don't worry about it."

"How should we enter the new year? I say, with open hands—not clenched fists. The world is ours to control. We are the heirs of God, the keepers of the vineyard," he concluded.

Peggy Carroll, attractive high school pianist, provided musical entertainment earlier in the program with a group of popular songs. Mr. S. Cook brought the program for the day.

There was no business transacted. Visitors were Jack Paul, Dallas; Charles Skelton, College Station; M. E. Dumas, Bobby Waddell and Gene Lawhorn of Tyler.

Ordinarily the opposition party makes inroads on—and sometimes overturns—congressional majorities of the other party in non-presidential elections. For example, the Republicans picked up 80 seats in the House in 1938, 47 in 1942, and 54 in 1946. They also gained 6, 9 and 12 Senate seats in those years.

Democratic campaign strategists, however, say their party can upset tradition and knock off a few more Republicans next year for a net gain of about three in the Senate and from 20 to 35 in the House.

stantial sum" from this nation's own military budget.

Connally took note of criticism by Senate Republican Leader Wherry of Nebraska and other Republicans on handling of the bi-partisan foreign policy.

But he denied there is any weakening of bi-partisan political cooperation in the senate—"except in spots."

"Some Republicans would be willing to use the bi-partisan policy for political advantage," he remarked.

But he insisted President Truman has never used the policy for party gain.

Connally also told his news conference that:

(1) Spain should be given full diplomatic recognition and, if possible, be brought into the Atlantic pact.

(2) New arms aid for Europe may be needed after June 30—but the amount should be less than the $1,000,000,000 program voted last year.

One group of Republican lawmakers led by Senator Wherry of Nebraska is demanding a new approach to foreign policy making which would give Republicans a stronger voice.

Senator Vandenberg of Michigan, the GOP's top man in foreign affairs, last week called for an "unpartisan" policy based on frank cooperation and free debate of all issues.

Vandenberg never has claimed to be his party's official spokesman on foreign issues although he generally is regarded as such.

But some Republicans are opposing the Vandenberg formula with strong undercover criticism of Vandenberg's leadership. They say he has assumed the role of party spokesman without party approval.

One Republican senator, who did not want to be quoted by name, told a reporter: "There is opposition growing to Vandenberg speaking as our leader in foreign policy when he does not even discuss policy with us in advance."

Senator Wherry has said he will not be bound by any commitments made by his party leaders. He said foreign policy must come out of open debate on the senate floor.

2,717 Are Killed During Holidays Of Closing Year

By The Associated Press.

The nation celebrated the six major holidays in 1949 with a lot of whoopla and gaiety but there was a staggering toll of violent accidental deaths—2,717.

And the National Safety Council predicts, 1950 will start with 330 Americans being killed in traffic accidents over the New Year's week end. It did not estimate the number of deaths in other accidents.

Deaths on the highways, in the air, fires, drownings, and a variety of other causes reached new records over some of the holiday periods this year. In most of them, the traffic toll exceeded the figure estimated by the council.

The 1949 holiday violent deaths showed: 1,705 in traffic mishaps; 381 drowned; 66 killed in fires and 555 killed in accidents of miscellaneous causes—including falls, airplane crashes, shootings, asphyxiation, etc.

Here is a breakdown for the holidays:

New Year's (two days)—309, including 207 traffic; Memorial day (three days), 413, including 233 traffic; 87 drownings; Fourth of July (three days), 711, including 315 traffic; 256 drownings; Labor day, (three days), 525, including 394 traffic; Thanksgiving (one day), 178, including 123 traffic; Christmas (three days), 580, including 413 traffic.

After last week end's Christmas holiday, when 580 persons lost their lives in accidents, Council President Ned J. Dearborn said:

"The actual death toll for our three day celebration was more than that for the Texas City disaster of two years ago which horrified the nation."

"Our holidays have become a series of 'Texas Cities.' In a week (New Year's) we may expect another one unless the people have sickened of making horror days out of their holidays."

Only a blizzard that "sews the country up tight" can prevent a death toll of at least 330 over the New Year's holiday, Dearborn said.

The council's estimate of 330 traffic fatalities for this week end's New Year's celebration is for the period from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight Monday. The council warned against drinking and driving and to "double your caution if the weather is bad."

The Christmas week and toll of 413 traffic fatalities was 22 under the council's estimate. But the auto death rate for the period was approximately 78 percent higher than the average number of deaths for an equally long period based on statistics for the first 10 months of 1949. The average number of traffic deaths for a similar period this year—78 hours—was 269.

Prosecution Ends Its Questioning Of Alger Hiss

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—The prosecution today completed its cross-examination of Alger Hiss, former high State Department official, on trial for the second time on perjury charges.

Hiss had been under cross-examination nearly three days. The government started cross-questioning him Dec. 21, and resumed Dec. 27 after the Christmas holidays.

The defendant took the stand in his own behalf Dec. 19.

The prosecution disclosed just before it finished questioning the defendant, that Hiss offered to provide a psychiatrist to the grand jury which indicted him last year, to explain "the troubled personality" of Whittaker Chambers, his accuser.

The offer was refused, a reading of the grand jury transcript by Assistant U. S. Attorney Thomas F. Murphy showed.

Chambers, chief government witness at the trial, charged that Hiss gave him secret State Department papers for passage to a Red spy ring. The indictment alleged that Hiss lied when he denied doing so.

The grand jury minutes showed that one of the grand jurors asked Hiss for the name of the psychiatrist and the defendant replied it was Dr. Carl Binger, Park Avenue psychiatrist and member of the faculty of Cornell University Medical College.

Murphy read from the grand jury minutes of Dec. 15, 1948, the day on which Hiss was indicted, that the defendant made this statement to the jury:

"One of the jurors said yesterday that the theory I was expressing was fantastic. I agree that there are many fantastic things about this case."

"My lawyers and I have consulted a noted psychiatrist about Mr. Chambers. I have obtained a great deal of information from the psychiatrist about Mr. Chambers' troubled personality. We have turned this information over to the Department of Justice and we have asked Mr. Alexander Campbell, head of the criminal division, to talk directly to the psychiatrist."

The transcript showed Hiss told the grand jurors the psychiatrist was willing "to come in and talk to you."

Attorneys for the defense made a motion in court chambers yesterday to permit it to use expert testimony for a psychiatrist attack on Chambers' accusations against Hiss.

Federal Judge Henry W. Goddard announced before the resumption of the trial today that he would file a memorandum opinion on the motion next week.

Dr. Binger was called by the defense in the first trial, which ended in a jury disagreement, but he was not permitted to testify. He attended the current trial Nov. 28 while Chambers was testifying.

A Tonic For The Missus

The missus came marching in with a new hat yesterday. She was as happy as a circus poster.

I've learned one thing about the hat she buys. A hat is a tonic to her. If she's feeling blue, nothing gives her a lift like a new hat. Now, I could trade in my old grey fedora without raising my blood pressure a notch. But I'll admit that more than once I've bought a new briar pipe I didn't need—just because life was getting a little bit monotonous.

With Buck Howell it's something else again. When Buck is feeling low, he gets over it by blowing on a broken-down clarinet he hasn't mastered in twenty years.

From where I sit, different people are always going to respond to different things in different ways. So let's keep a friendly understanding of what other folks get out of a new hat, an old clarinet, a choicest soda or a temperate glass of sparkling beer or ale now and then.

THE BUDGET ISSUE

Preparation of the National budget for the next fiscal year will bring up again the bitterly argued question whether the budget should be balanced. It appears very likely that the debate will center on the question of whether taxes ought to be raised, following the argument that the only way to balance the budget is to raise taxes.

But there is another way: Reduce expenses. Despite the number of congressmen, senators and executive officials who become temporarily deaf when this procedure is suggested, it is a logical and economically sound way to balance the budget, and it is perfectly possible.

Substantial reduction in expenses can be achieved by pursuing farther the reorganization of the government according to the proposals made by the Hoover Commission. The reorganization steps which so far have been taken are only a beginning, and yet it is estimated that they may be producing annual savings of a billion dollars or more within another year or two. Another two or three billions can easily be saved, according to Commission estimates.

If all possible gains are obtained from this valuable report, the nation might be well on the way toward a balanced budget.

AID FROM CITIZENS

It is reported that some officials in the Economic Cooperation Administration and the State Department want to have a committee of private citizens established to help make government policy toward world economic problems. There is an implication that officials are finding it hard to muster support of some of the policies which seem necessary, and of hope that policies drafted by a committee of highly regarded citizens would meet better public acceptance.

Specifically this committee would be expected to find ways to improve the United States trade balance situation by increasing imports, and ways to assure the nation that increased imports will not bring ruin to our own economy. Evidently there is no thought that a policy-making committee of citizens might have other ideas about imports, and indeed such is hardly likely. An obvious cause of trouble is the persistent excess of United States exports over our imports. Few would say that we want to reduce our exports, so the only thing left to do is to increase imports. Oddly this truth remains hard to impress on some of the diehards of the old protective tariff school.

What needs to be done is a job of salesmanship. Some of the Americans who will resist imports have to be sold the idea that we can't live forever, economically, without them. Perhaps a citizens' committee might be successful in putting the idea across.

FARM PLAN ARGUMENT

The American Farm Bureau has officially aligned itself against the Brannan Plan in the forthcoming political battle over what shape farm price supports should have. The organization favors a permanent program similar to the present system of maintaining farm prices at pre-determined market levels by government underwriting or manipulations of the market. The interesting thing is that most of the reasons assigned by the Farm Bureau for its opposition to the Brannan Plan are also appli-

QUESTION AND ANSWER

"How soon will Santa come again?"

The other day asked little Jane.

"Well, first," I said, "must winter pass.

The snow and ice must free the grass.

And dandelions start to grow,

With pretty tulips, row by row.

The robins must come back to sing

To let you know that it is spring.

Then, June must bring the lovely sight

Of roses blossoming red and white.

And next, the school bell's final chime

That signals: 'T's vacation time.

A few weeks more, and you'll behold

The trees in robes of red and gold.

And rosy apples, juicy, sweet

Inviting you to come and eat.

Next, you must bow your head and pray,

For it will be Thanksgiving Day.

A month from then, if you've been good

And tried to do as children should,

I'm certain, little Jane,

That Santa will be back again."

"So long to wait for him!" said she.

"Why, that seems like a year to me!"

whether such a program should be adopted. Congress should first determine exactly what problems of medical care requires solution. The people are aware in general terms that there is bad distribution of medical services, which are abundantly available in some areas while in others the only facilities in many miles are those offered by the office of one incredibly overworked doctor. It is generally known that many families do not get proper care, some because they cannot pay for it and others because they have not been taught to seek and accept it. It is presumed many deaths might be prevented by adequate medical attention to all.

But what are the exact facts? The statistics so far presented by both advocates and opponents of a federal medical program are generalities; they indicate that a problem exists but not the detailed nature of the problem. Before an intelligent decision can be made we must know exactly what kind of problems we have and how big they are, and then the proposed steps can be considered to see if they offer promise of meeting them. The opponents of a federal program should present proposals for dealing with the problems by others. All this would take time, and be costly. But its cost in time and money would not be nearly so great as the cost of a decision based on scanty information might prove to be in the long run.

THE ALSO-RANS

One way for a politician to make a name is to run against some one who becomes famous. The late Harold W. Hastings, a prominent public figure in his time, is now remembered chiefly as the man whose defeat in 1937 brought Thomas E. Dewey his first elective office. The political history of the United States might have been decidedly different had Hastings won and had that ended Dewey's budding political career.

A few years ago Albert Ottinger died. With difficulty reporters remembered him as a man who in 1923 had come within 25,000 votes of defeating Franklin D. Roosevelt for governor of New York. Not only the United States but the entire world would have had a different story of recent years if a few more thousand of Ottinger's friends and supporters had come to the polls in 1928.

MECHANICAL THINKERS

The acceptance of "thinking" traffic lights is spreading. These are for the intersection of a busy road and a minor one, normally showing a green light to the busy road with a gadget which changes the lights when a vehicle approaches on the lesser road. This is a real advance in traffic control.

Now the inventors should work on a steering wheel that can "think."

1950 Farm Prices Heading Downward

By OVID A. MARTIN
(AP Newsfeature)

WASHINGTON—Agriculture's wartime and postwar boom in prices virtually came to an end in 1949.

Nevertheless, farmers as a whole still were prosperous—even highly so when judged by the relatively unfavorable standards of the 30s when producers were plagued by depressed prices, low incomes and unmarketable surpluses.

Yet the year 1949 saw agriculture lose a price advantage it had enjoyed since late in 1941, the beginning of the war-inspired boom for farm products.

Application of the legal standard—parity—for measuring farm prices shows quite clearly what has happened to agriculture. Parity prices are those which, according to law, the farmer must get in order to be able to buy his fair share of non-farm goods and services.

In the 12 years before the war, farm prices averaged far below the parity standard. In other words, the farmer was at a price disadvantage in dealing with others.

But outbreak of the war in Europe and this country's eventual entry into conflict sent farm prices skyrocketing. They reached a record peak of 33 per cent above parity in October, 1946. In other words, agriculture enjoyed a 33 per cent price advantage over others, judged by the parity measuring stick.

This big jump in farm prices was accompanied by a similar increase in farm income.

But farm prices started easing off late in 1946 as world shortages began to lessen and as domestic production, no longer checked by limited labor supplies and machinery, claimed to new heights.

A 12 per cent decline in prices in 1946 added to decreases in the previous years, pulled farm prices down to parity. Thus, agriculture no longer enjoyed a price advantage.

The year 1950 is likely to see farm prices drop below the parity level, thus again putting the farmer at a buying disadvantage. Government farm economists predict agriculture prices in 1950 will average about 10 per cent below the 1949 average.

Naturally the lower prices have been reflected in a reduced farm income. The agriculture department estimates farmers' net income—the amount left after paying production expenses—at about $14,000,000 for 1949 compared with the record of $18,000,000 in 1947.

The department also predicts that net farm income in 1950 will drop to $12,000,000.

Despite the reduction in income, farm buying power still is high in comparison with the '30s, when returns dropped below $4,000,000. The difference is not as great as might seem by comparison of the figures, however, because a dollar in the '30s would buy more than today's dollar.

Farm prices have dropped more than have food prices. The reason for this is the fact that the cost of transporting, processing and distributing food has tended to remain at peak levels. In fact, freight rates have increased. Likewise, wages in many processing industries have increased.

Agriculture finds itself in about the best financial position it has occupied since the early twenties. Agriculture department estimates agriculture's assets at about $125,000,000. This is two per cent above a year ago and more than two and a third times the prewar figure for 1940.

The big incomes of the war and postwar years enabled farmers to reduce a heavy burden of debt accumulated during the difficult years of the thirties. As a consequence, they are in better position to weather a period of reduced prices than if their debts remained high.

This does not mean to say, however, that farmers face no financial problems. The prospect of a smaller income in 1950 indicates that they will have to be more careful in their spending. They will tend to buy somewhat fewer automobiles, tractors, other machinery and household furnishings. They face also problems of changing production patterns. Weakening foreign demands has led the government to call upon producers to grow less cotton, wheat, peanuts, tobacco, and rice next year.

Likewise the threat of costly surpluses of such domestically used crops as corn, potatoes, flaxseed, soybeans, and other grains has led to government pleas for reduced volume of them.

The government is using that land taken out of these crops be put into grass, pasture and forage crops for feeding meat and dairy animals.

Hence, the situation points to the possibility of further expansion in the livestock industry, and indirectly in industries which process and sell livestock products. The government hopes that much of this expansion will take place in the south, a region heretofore largely devoted to a cotton economy.

smaller income in 1950 indicates that they will have to be more careful in their spending. They will tend to buy somewhat fewer automobiles, tractors, other machinery and household furnishings. They face also problems of changing production patterns. Weakening foreign demands has led the government to call upon producers to grow less cotton, wheat, peanuts, tobacco, and rice next year.

Likewise the threat of costly surpluses of such domestically used crops as corn, potatoes, flaxseed, soybeans, and other grains has led to government pleas for reduced volume of them.

The government is using that land taken out of these crops be put into grass, pasture and forage crops for feeding meat and dairy animals.

Hence, the situation points to the possibility of further expansion in the livestock industry, and indirectly in industries which process and sell livestock products. The government hopes that much of this expansion will take place in the south, a region heretofore largely devoted to a cotton economy.

Naturally the lower prices have been reflected in a reduced farm income. The agriculture department estimates farmers' net income—the amount left after paying production expenses—at about $14,000,000 for 1949 compared with the record of $18,000,000 in 1947.

The department also predicts that net farm income in 1950 will drop to $12,000,000.

Despite the reduction in income, farm buying power still is high in comparison with the '30s, when returns dropped below $4,000,000. The difference is not as great as might seem by comparison of the figures, however, because a dollar in the '30s would buy more than today's dollar.

Farm prices have dropped more than have food prices. The reason for this is the fact that the cost of transporting, processing and distributing food has tended to remain at peak levels. In fact, freight rates have increased. Likewise, wages in many processing industries have increased.

Dallas Doctor Speaker At Banquet Of Navarro County Medical Society

Dr. Elliott Mendenhall, president of the Dallas County Medical Society, was the principal speaker Thursday night at the fifth annual Navarro County Medical Society at the Navarro Hotel. His subject was "Why Doctors?" Dr. Paul E. Mitchell, president of the local society, presided. He also spoke of the blue-print stage of a "dream" realized this year in the securing of funds for the new Navarro County Memorial Hospital.

Dr. J. Wilson David, councilor for the Central Texas District 12 of the Texas Medical Society, recalled many personages, sites, business and impressions of a half century ago.

In the beginning of the program, President Mitchell said that the medical profession was one of the first selected to be socialized and spoke of the enormous pressure exerted in some quarters toward that goal. He declared, however, that the medical profession had won the first round in a fight with its back to the wall.

Dr. Mendenhall, a fine story-teller and at the same time driving home points and thought-provoking utterances, urged that physicians, particularly the general practitioner, work at the job of preparing people how to live, physically and spiritually. He declared that the production of material good and property was desirable in order that more good to their fellowman can result.

Doctors ought to produce some happiness, he said, after he referred to the physicians seeing the seamy side of life many times, and then reminded the group that many people look to their doctor for comfort and encouragement when in trouble. He stressed what good a kind word, nod, pat on the back can do — give a new lease on life to a discouraged person.

Advising the medical to be teachers — share experiences with others and exchange ideas — he suggested the joining of hands and the working together for the common good.

New members presented were Dr. J. H. Playfair, Blooming Grove; Dr. C. L. Gary and Dr. W. B. Myrland, both of Corsicana.

Dr. Mitchell, referring to the new Memorial hospital, praised publicity, and work that had brought to fruition the dream of a new hospital. He credited H. R. Stroube, finance chairman of the advisory board, with much work, time and expense in the furtherance of the hospital program; Dr. Gurley H. Sanders of Kerens, chairman of the county advisory board, for leading the campaign; and Paul Moore, secretary of the Navarro county hospital board, for the publicity and work in the campaign.

48 lb. HEAVIER CALVES TO SELL...than on cake

The big difference was proved by Purina in a ranch feeding test. 50 cows winter-fed on Purina Range Breeder Checkers weaned 48-lb. heavier calves than 50 cows fed on cake. Both groups were fed exactly the same amount. The 48 lbs. difference in weight per calf meant about $9.60 extra income per head.

Here's why Purina Checkers do the job — correct protein percent (not too high) ... more carbohydrates ... more calcium and other minerals ... more vitamin A. See us now for your winter feeding needs.

Road Construction Costs Are Down 10 Per Cent From Peak Hit In 1948

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—(AP)—American taxpayers are expected to put up a record $2 billion next year for roads and highways. Today they have the cheering news they might save $200 million on the deal.

That is because road construction costs are down about 10 per cent from their 1948 peak, and may even drop another five percent, while highway labor productivity is reported up.

The resulting saving on next year's road program, either $200 million for more roads, or a $200 million reduction in taxes. However, don't count your tax savings before they are hatched. Taxes often go up, rarely come down.

Part of the cost of building highways is borne by taxes motorists pay. The annual burden of state and federal gasoline and automobile taxes now runs "alarmingly close to $100 a vehicle," according to Baird H. Markham, director of the American Petroleum Industries committee of the American Petroleum Institute. Markham elaborates on a subject naturally very close to the institute's heart: "The gasoline tax nationally averages about 33 per cent of the retail price of this product."

Richard H. Wilson, assistant state highway engineer in California, reports on some reasons for the cost drop:

1. Increased labor productivity, which he thinks may be due to more competition for jobs.

2. End to uncertainties—ready availability of materials at guaranteed prices, plus the stable supply of labor, lets contractors cut the contingency items in their bids.

3. The drop in material prices for the first time since 1940. Under this he lists excavation costs down 23 per cent from last year; class B Portland cement down 12 per cent; bar reinforcing steel down 12 per cent; and structural steel down 24 per cent.

Costs, however, are still well above prewar levels. The U. S. public roads bureau's index uses 1925-29 costs as a base of 100. The index had dropped to 72.5 in 1939. During the war and since the index rose steadily to its peak of 165.3 in the fourth quarter of 1948. By this October it had receded to 148.7.

Witnesses For Cumpston Trial Are Requested

An application for the subpoena of 35 witnesses in the Frank Cumpston murder case, slated for trial at Waxahatche Jan. 9, has been filed by County Attorney Charles P. Banister.

The application was sent to the district clerk of Ellis county, where the case was sent on a change of venue last summer, Banister said Thursday.

Describing the case as having "a hectic career," Banister pointed out that trials have been set on numerous occasions but for various reasons have been continued.

Accused in the fatal shooting last March 5 of John E. (Goob) Barnett at Blooming Grove, Cumpston was convicted of murder without malice on July 20, and assessed a three-year prison term. A new trial was granted, however, on defense charges of jury misconduct in discussing Cumpston's past and his reputation.

A motion for change of venue after the new trial was granted was overruled by District Judge A. P. Mays and the case was tried again here on Aug. 4, resulting in a hung jury after some 20 hours of deliberation.

Four days after the judge granted a second defense motion for change of venue, ordering transfer of the case to Ellis county. More delay in trial of the case resulted in this county.

Representing the state at the Waxahatche trial will be Banister, Will Justice of Athens, special prosecutor, and Stuart Lumpkins, Ellis county attorney. Attorneys for Cumpston are eight-night watchman at Blooming Grove, are Doyle Pevehouse, George Nokes, Leighton and Matt Dawson, all of Corsicana, and Lynn Griffith of Waxahatche.

Housewives Told To Dress Safely
For work around the house or yard, the wise housewife will choose a skirt designed for safety, comfort and convenience. A skirt which is moderately wide but not full is safest for the homemaker, says Mary Routh, extension clothing specialist of Texas A. and M. College.

A gored skirt, says Miss Routh, can be cut wide enough around the bottom to allow for walking, free climbing or for stooping. It should be fitted about the hips so that it will stay in place and does not get in the way. In contrast, she says, a full skirt has a way of billowing out when you stoop over so that it may be stepped on when you are on a ladder washing windows or bending to low shelves.

A light skirt which is close around the bottom restricts free movement when you walk and may catch and pull uncomfortably and unsafely, especially when you are in a hurry.

Sashes, bows, flaps and fancy lace on the bottom restricts free movement, she says, because they may catch on doorknobs, get tangled up in machinery that you may be using or caught in doors when they are slammed. She says your work clothing can be neat and attractive and at the same time safe and practical for the everyday jobs that homemakers must perform.

Next time you're in town stop in for full details. Let's talk over the advantages of a Massey-Harris Clipper Combine for your farm. ☺

In contrast, she says, a full skirt has a way of billowing out when you stoop over so that it may be stepped on when you are on a ladder washing windows or bending to low shelves.

A light skirt which is close around the bottom restricts free movement when you walk and may catch and pull uncomfortably and unsafely, especially when you are in a hurry.

Sashes, bows, flaps and fancy lace on the bottom restricts free movement, she says, because they may catch on doorknobs, get tangled up in machinery that you may be using or caught in doors when they are slammed. She says your work clothing can be neat and attractive and at the same time safe and practical for the everyday jobs that homemakers must perform.

County Employment Rises To Year's Highest Level

The employment report for Corsicana and Navarro county, prepared by W. B. Reedy, local director of the Texas Employment Commission, shows that total employment reached its highest level of the year in December.

However, the forecast for the next 60 days, according to Reedy, isn't so bright and he believes there'll be more unemployment in the area.

He explains his prediction by saying weather conditions will stifle many outside activities, that agricultural employment is at the year's low, and that retail and wholesale industries will release many of the temporary employees hired for the holiday period.

Seasonal activities will reduce their staffs and extra help hired at the start of crop harvests will be released, he added.

About December, Reedy said, "Following a trend that was started early in September, Navarro county's total employment perhaps reached its highest level of the year, with the exception, of course, of the level reached during the fall cotton harvest when every employable person who would follow this type of work was employed."

"Highlighting December's upward surge, was the wholesale and retail industries, together with other related lines. Merchants who saw to their sales staffs early in the season had little to worry about. But those who waited until the season was in full swing found extra help hard to hire."

Reedy added: "Even though the overall picture stands out as bright as a Christmas tree, there are many obstacles in the path of full employment.

"Jobs for men in the construction trades, jobs for men in the upper age brackets, and jobs for the physically handicapped are sorely needed to balance Corsicana's labor supply.

"These are not likely to come during the next three months, as Old Man Winter usually regulates the amount of outside work at this season of the year, and as long as there is an ample supply of physical labor available, the upper age bracket, and the handicapped are the last to be considered for a job."

During December the local employment office received a total of 277 non-farm job listings from Corsicana employers. At the end of the reporting period (Dec. 23) 222 of these jobs had been filled after 351 applicants had been referred for interview. The remaining 55 openings were canceled, filled by the employer, or still pending.

This compares with 292 listings in November, with 246 being filled by the local office. Ninety-nine new applications for work were accepted during December, 23 were females and 20 were veterans of World War II.

The year's peak month for new applications was May when a total of 329 applications were taken. The low month for applications was September when only 72 job seekers registered for the first time.

Claims for unemployment benefit payments likewise increased somewhat over the previous month as lay-offs were noted in some outside activities, as well as reductions in various seasonal activities. Approximately 185 active claim counts were noted at the end of November, while the total active accounts were slightly above 200 at the end of December.

The active file count of job seekers at the local office climbed to 512 at the end of December, while it stood at 410 at the end of November.

The peak month for active applicants during the year was May when the total stood at 1,278. This peak, however, was brought about by a temporary shut-down in an industrial plant.

Placement activity for December by the local employment office included the greatest variety of groupings than in any previous month of the year, Reedy reported.

Twelve major groups were served in December. The previous high was eight. The December groupings included construction, food and kindred manufacturing, instrument manufacturing, miscellaneous manufacturing, public utilities, wholesale trade, retail trade, service institutions, private households, government, appeal manufacture and agriculture.

Transportation, mining, finance and insurance, forestry, fishing and oil production and refining were the daily major groups not having job openings listed.

MISS SUE CARROLL LEWIS IS MARRIED TO LT. JOE D. YORK IN CEREMONY AT FORT WORTH

Miss Sue Carroll Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Lewis of Fort Worth, became the bride of Lt. Joe D. York, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. (Joe) York of Corsicana, in an impressive ceremony at the home of the bride's parents Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

The Rev. James E. Sharp, associate pastor of First Methodist church, read the double ring rites. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a street-length dress of Circon blue slipper satin, designed with elongated bodice, Peter Pan collar, petal points sleeves adorned with self-covered buttons, and a full, gathered skirt. She wore a single strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, an heirloom gold ring that had been in her family for sixty years, carried a Cuban lace handkerchief, a gift of the bridegroom's father, and wore a sixpence in her shoe. Her flowers were tuchsia sweetheart roses tied with matching satin ribbon and showered with tuchsia rosebuds.

Attendants: Miss Johnnie Lewis, the bride's sister, served as the only attendant. She was attired in yellow gold slipper satin, created with fitted bodice, Elizabethan collar, short sleeves and bouffant skirt. Fuchsia sweetheart roses to match the bridal bouquet fastened her corsage. Mike Keen, a school chum of the bridegroom, served as best man.

During the formal reception that followed the ceremony, Mrs. R. E. York, mother of the bridegroom, presided at the three-tiered satined wedding cake which was topped with a wedding bell in which stood a miniature bridal couple. Miss Paula Rupe poured coffee and Miss Johnnie Lewis registered the guests. The bride's table was laid in green satin and centered with Christmas decorations and red candles.

For a wedding trip to Oklahoma City and Tulsa, Okla., the bride chose a tuxedo suit, white blouse, Palmolive accessories and a corsage of tuchsia roses.

The bride is a former student of Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. The bridegroom is a lieutenant in the Air Force, stationed at Lackland Air Force base in San Antonio. He was a senior student in business administration at North Texas State College at the time of his enlistment.

After January 5th, Lt. and Mrs. Joe York will be at home in San Antonio. They will be entertained in Corsicana on New Year's Day with Mike Keen as host.

Attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Joe York and son, Gerry, and Mike Keen, the Rev. and Mrs. Jas. E. Sharp of Corsicana, and Mrs. W. R. Phillips and Miss Phyllis Phillips of Edinburg, sister and niece of Mrs. York.

County Attorney Faces Unusually Heavy Schedule

The new year will usher in an unusually heavy schedule for the county attorney's office.

During January, dozens of criminal cases are to be disposed of in county and district courts.

"The indictment against Frank Cumpston for murder, already tried twice in Navarro county, is set for a third trial in Ellis county at Waxahachie on Jan. 5," Banister said Tuesday.

"On January 16, several pending cases in the local county court will be set for trial, and on January 23, a number of cases will be set for trial in the district court."

Banister announced that he plans to appear before the court of criminal appeals in Austin on January 18 to press his motion for rehearing in the Slaughter murder case, a Navarro county conviction which recently was reversed by the appellate court.

Car Is Struck By Stray Bullet

Navarro county narrowly escaped having a holiday fatality.

Four juvenile boys, hunting near the Roane-Chaffield road Monday morning accidentally fired a rifle into a passing automobile. Deputy Sheriff Dick Salter reported. The bullet crashed through the car window and barely missed striking the two passengers, Salter said.

The youths were taken before Judge A. P. May, who gave them a lecture on firearms safety.
